

BOBO THE DOG FACED BOY CONTINGENCY ENVELOPE:

OPEN WHEN HYPNOTIZED

You will find a new badge to wear. Put it on after you read this.

You are now a small dog, a terrier to be exact. You cannot speak nor read or write. You can bark, though. You still have 9 combat cards.

If someone encourages you to find a specific thing you stole and hid last night, you can (lead them on a small chase over the neighborhood and then find a Roustabout for the item).

Also, while you are a terrier, you remember that it was Douglas Credenza you saw sneaking around Helena's wagon last night.

Finally, the first time you take this form, you are compelled to try to take a shiny object and bury it somewhere. Try to make it something easy to get, so that the players get the idea of what you are doing.

Other than that, you are a small dog for about five minutes, then you turn back into a confused Bobo the Dog Faced Boy. You do not remember anything you do when you're a terrier. After this, you can turn into a terrier at will; it lasts for about 5 minutes and then you turn back.